Good idea just to make sure, that way you will know in the future without any doubt.

I never thought about "secret" being in secretary. How interesting! ☺

Not sharing the amount someone donated is one of the reasons why the word "secret" is the root word of secretary ☺...it's a no brainer!

Cathy said the email I sent was OK, she saw no concern.
I will ask Coleen too just in case she has some legal insights I could use moving forward.
Either way, it is ALL Good!
Thanks!

Thank you for always being so receptive. I am receptive too if you ever have any feedback for me!!

As for the donation issue, I would just be careful advertising anyone's donation amount. Typically that's kept private. (For instance, you wouldn't tell Staff how much money or anyone else donated to CFC, right?)

I see your conundrum if she asked you to share it though. In the future, I would just make sure to cover your back and get senior approval (Cathy, Don) before sharing (for this or anything else you might not be 100% sure on). And I would also include the words "voluntarily donated" as you said, and make sure it's to an organization and not a person.

In general, stuff having to do with money (especially staff members' personal funds) requires extra special sensitivity/attention.

I am always open to feedback, good or "bad" any day of the week !

Thanks for bringing this to my attention though. Moving forward I will be sure to include the words "voluntarily donated" which seems to close the door on asking for any amount.

Yes/no?

If she asked you to then I think it's okay?

The only reason I suggest being careful with money stuff is because of Hatch Act stuff, which sets restrictions on monetary "gifts" staff can give to other staff and contractors, though in this case [REDACTED] so I'm sure it's fine.

[REDACTED] But with CFC, when staff donate to charity, we do not "advertise" per se who the eagles and double eagles (the more generous/big donors) are since financial donations are considered sort of private/personal/sensitive.

But if [REDACTED] asked you to, what are you supposed to say? I don't think it's a big deal, just in the future I would think twice and/or seek Cathy or Don's approval before sharing information about what a staff member donated to a charity or organization or anything along those lines.

Of course, you can be the judge of what you think is appropriate. Just sharing my two cents since you've seemed open and receptive in the past!

Yes, she did ask me to send it to staff, was this inappropriate?

Very sweet of [REDACTED] to donate. Just some friendly advice though: I'd be careful with sharing information when it has to do with money. Perhaps [REDACTED] said it was okay for you to share with staff, though?
