Hey Josh,

Thanks for the email! Hope you're well - this deflategate won't go away, huh??

I was in London when you sent this but have passed along to the organizers to see what's possible. Will let you know when I hear back on this!

Talk soon,
Hugh

Hey brother - hope you're doing well! Passing along the below from Lynn Le at Society Nine, who, was quoted on the United States of Women instagram page and would love to participate in the United States of Women convening at the WH. She reached out to my good friend Jeff below, who is the head of Cabinet Affairs for CA Gov Jerry Brown. Not sure at all if you can help, but figured I'd drop a quick note to see if possible.

Fingers crossed on these Pats offseason moves. Hoping we have a big draft. We'll see. You going to any games this year? I think I'm going to watch them play the Bills in Buffalo. Should be a fun game.

Be well man and hope to catch you soon!

Hey Jeff!!!

I hope you're doing well - Seeing you SLAY at the CA governor's office! Congrats on your continued athletic milestones, as well as the evolution of your career.

I've got a question for you - do you know have any connections to people who are organizing the United State of Women White House Summit? You were one of the first people I thought of who could have connections to the White House events staff.

They inaugurated their Instagram account not too long ago at all (there's only 4 posts!) with a quote from yours truly that was in the latest Amy Poehler's Smart Girls article featuring us!

I haven't been invited to attend yet, but since I'm on their radar I am trying to reach out to my network to see if anyone knows who does the event planning for the White House. I'd like to be there to be representative of their Violence Against Women, Health and Wellness, and Entrepreneurship and Innovation categories and participate by sharing how Society Nine plays a role.

Any direction you can point me would be so greatly appreciated - thanks so much! Sending a big hug!!

With love and gratitude,

Lynn
