U.S. Joining The Battle Against Malaria In Pakistan's Flood Zones

Islamabad, September 15, 2010 – The U.S. announced today that it is providing Rs 428 million ($5 million) to fight malaria in flood-affected regions of Pakistan.

Early warning and detection mechanisms are crucial in meeting public health needs in the immediate recovery period following a natural disaster. The U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), in partnership with Pakistan's Ministry of Health, is providing the money to the U.N. World Health Organization (WHO) for use in its anti-malaria programs.

The funds will be used to preposition rapid testing kits and anti-malarial medications. It will also go towards educational programs designed to teach at-risk communities the early warning signs of a malaria outbreak.

The U. S. has provided more than Rs 22 billion ($261 million) in emergency humanitarian assistance to the people of Pakistan. The U.S. also has provided other civilian and military in-kind assistance in the form of halal meals, pre-fabricated steel bridges and other infrastructure support, as well as air support to and within Pakistan to transport goods and rescue people, valued at approximately Rs 3.4 billion ($40 million).

U.S. Provides Rs 1.7 Billion For Flood Affected Farmers

Islamabad, September 15, 2010- The United States has committed Rs 1.7 billion ($21 million) to provide seed and fertilizer to flood-affected farmers in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa. The money will help ensure there's a viable crop of rabi wheat this winter and prevent future food insecurity.

Rs 1.3 billion ($16 million) of the funds for the program will be provided by the Kerry-Lugar-Berman Enhanced Partnership with Pakistan Act. An additional Rs 428 million ($5 million) will come from the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance (OFDA).

The program will be implemented by the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) and will provide wheat seed, vegetable seed and fertilizer packages to help approximately 1.7 million people in 12 districts, particularly female-headed households, female farmers, and households with children under five years old.

"Providing the wheat seed will help ensure farmers can maintain the normal plant and harvest cycle," USAID Mission Director Bob Wilson said. "As the floods recede, similar programming will support additional farmers in other flood-affected areas of Pakistan."

To date, the U. S. has provided more than Rs 22.3 billion ($261 million) in emergency humanitarian assistance to the people of Pakistan. The U.S. also has provided other civilian and military in-kind assistance in the form of halal meals, pre-fabricated steel bridges and other infrastructure support, as well as air support to and within Pakistan to transport goods and rescue people, valued at approximately Rs 3.4 billion ($40 million).
