Subject: Wake up

Honestly I find it really strange how everyone can be wrong and only Obama can be the only right person when he stated he didn't know what was in the health care bill. For People that have read the bill and put out the information on what is in it you say they are basically liars. I believe the only liar in this discussion is the white house and Obama's far left cronies. You need to listen to the American people and not the lazy people that want something for nothing. It is really sad when Obama is trying to turn MY country into a socialist country. Below is an artical for you nazi's.

Obama hates the white man

... an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil. – Luke 6:45
 Barack Obama hates white people – especially white men. Sorry folks, but the truth will set you free!

Why else would Obama falsely accuse Sgt. James Crowley and other Cambridge Police officers of "racial profiling" and claim they "acted stupidly" – creating a national racial controversy?

For months, I have said that Barack Obama was elected as a result of white fear (guilt) and black racism. Whites voted for him because of guilt and the fear of being called "racist." And the 96 percent of blacks who voted for the "Messiah" did so because of his race and his "spread the wealth" notions.

Despite the stark reality of Obama's close association with black racists like the Rev. Jeremiah Wright Jr., many white Americans hoped for the best and cast their ballot for the "post-racial" candidate, Obama.

The new president assembled his left-wing policy wonks and Chicago henchmen, and within six months into his presidency he has tried to radically alter and fundamentally socialize every major American industry from banking to health care.

What can we learn about our new president by analyzing his personality quirks? Find out what the experts say in Whistleblower magazine's "Narcissist in Chief" edition

When Obama intentionally maligned the Cambridge police officers it shocked America, especially whites. A growing number of Americans were questioning his out-of-control spending ($1 trillion in six months), but they didn't see him as racially polarizing. That all changed after he weighed in on the arrest of Harvard professor Henry Louis Gates Jr. and accused the white cops of racial profiling without knowing the facts. For the first time he spoke from his heart without the aid of a teleprompter, and we saw the real Barack Obama. (Now we know why he relies on the teleprompter!)

Barack Obama is Jeremiah Wright Jr. He is the NAACP and the Congressional Black Caucus! He embodies the aspirations of every left-wing black group that wants to tear down this country and take power away from the "oppressive" white man. He's not an obvious race hustler like Al Sharpton or Jesse Jackson; but Obama is a smooth pathological liar – with a wicked heart. It's no coincidence that he nominated the "wise Latina" Sonia Sotomayor and appointed Eric Holder attorney general. Holder, best-known for signing off on Bill Clinton's pardon of fugitive financier Marc Rich, also stirred controversy when he referred to America as a "nation of cowards." Obama wants to transform the judicial system and rule of law into "social justice" to address "racial inequalities" – and he has a committed comrade in Eric Holder.

For instance, note the Holder Justice Department's order to dismiss the charges against the New Black Panther Party members (including one who wielded a nightstick) who had been charged with voter intimidation in Philadelphia during November's election. This was considered to be one of the most blatant cases of voter intimidation since the '60s, yet Obama's chief law enforcement officer once again let the criminals walk.

(Column continues below)

Barack Obama is dividing the races like no other president in history – and his polls numbers reflect that. A poll by the Pew Research Center found that Obama's popularity slipped among whites after the Gates controversy from 53 percent to 46 percent. Among blacks and Hispanics, his numbers went up from 63 percent to 74 percent. Overall job approval was 54 percent, down from 61 percent in a mid-June Pew poll.

Both Obama and his friend Henry Louis Gates are racist. Keep in mind also that Gates' attorney, Charles Ogletree, was Barack Obama's law professor at Harvard. We're dealing with liberal-elite, cunning black intellectuals.

Sgt. James Crowley said after the "beer summit" that there were no apologies, but that he will meet with and listen to more about Gates' views. Listen to what? How to hamstring cops from doing their jobs? Are you kidding me?

I realize that Crowley was under a great deal of pressure to get along, but he should have had the courage to demand an apology and tell the president and Gates: 1) They were wrong, and 2) Their phony photo op and "beer summit" at the White House won't cleanse their racist hearts.

President Obama spoke of this being a teachable moment, and it certainly is for white Americans. The lesson is that they need to speak up or lose their country! All accounts indicate that in this instance, the moment was missed and Sgt. Crowley was conned. The focus has subtly shifted from the false accusations of a racist black man to racial profiling from the dreaded white man.

As for Obama, as a result of his part in this incident and his efforts to destroy this great country, I am convinced that unless ACORN and company fix the next election, he will be a one-term president – and that is something that all freedom-loving courageous Americans can toast to. This Bud's for you, Mr. Obama!
