Barack Hussein Obama 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. Washington, DC 20500
Sir:

I will not dignify you by calling you by title because it is obvious that tradition and respect mean nothing to you. I will not even entertain the possibility that you will ever read this letter, but it will make me feel better, no matter the consequences. This might be the only statement in this letter that if you did read you would understand, because it's narcissistic.

From the beginning, you were a phony. Deemed an "historic" moment when the ignorant voted you in office, the history was lost on your pedigree. A true historic moment in time would have been if this country elected a true descendant of slaves that through hard work and education had achieved things that qualified them to hold a high office. Condoleezza Rice comes to mind, but I'm sure there are thousands that would qualify. You are not in that group. Even a bigot who loved their country more than their bigotry could have supported such a person-in spite of race. But you were elected because of your race and it is my opinion that this demonstrates a country still suffering from the pain of slavery-not from the descendants of slaves-but from displaced guilt over it. It is my opinion that the sin of slavery was paid in full by hundreds of thousands of lives on both sides in the Civil War. Now, as your side would say-let's move on.

Your tenure in office will be marked by increasing divisiveness in our country. Your ignorant choice of things to speak out on which was really none of your business is appalling. From the first on the Cambridge professor incident, where without knowing the facts you claimed the police acted "stupidly", and then had to waste time on the silly beer summit because, as the professor did, you ran your mouth before you knew what you were talking about.

Arrogance and ignorance seem to go hand-in-hand with your administration. The arrogance in your statement of how most Americans are limited in their knowledge of foreign countries and can only say "Parlez-vous français?" was followed by your brilliant "Cinco de quattro", ie, the fifth of the fourth. Yes, Mr. Obama we the people are the stupid ones-keep believing that.

Then of course the infamous "If I had a son, he would look like Travon" remark as if the racial flames needed fanning. In fact, with your breeding, your son would probably have more likely looked like George Zimmerman. Some times, a good leader who is confident needs to know when to just keep his mouth closed. That can demonstrate true intelligence. 1

Although you are outstanding at dividing this country into groups by race, gender, financial status, religious beliefs-the list goes on and on-your real talent is lying. The shouting of "you lie" at your state of the union was wrong for only one reason-it was not complete. It should have been "you lie-all of the time" to be accurate.

If I began listed a small portion of those lies, I would be a long time finishing this letter as I would be making frequent ink refills-so maybe it's better to sum up the only things you tell the truth about: "I think it's a good idea to spread that wealth around ..." (translation) From each according to their ability to each according to their need.

I am quickly losing the brevity of a good letter, but wanted to set some foundation of why it is painful to think of you as the representative of our country. So I will get to the most egregious thing so far. It would be of course the unlawful release of the five terrorists.
