

From: [REDACTED]
Received: 5/7/2010 11:05:18 PM
To: iqpers@iqpers.eop.gov
Subject: Environment

P6/b(6)

Dear Sir:

Jumping to conclusions to assign blame to BP is reminiscent of blaming the Cambridge Police for "acting stupidly" without knowing the facts.

It is probably very satisfying to keep the Presidents FOOT on the neck of BP; however, it is the kind of disrespectful attitude that ends in an embarrassing 'BEER SUMMIT.'

I doubt a beer would solve the issue if sabotage were determined to be involved in the BP Gulf of Mexico oil disaster.

By the way, this rhetoric doesn't play well out here among the voting citizens.

Yours truly,
Dottie Hubbard

==+= Original Formatted Message Starts Here =====

IPAddress: 75.66.249.105
Date: May 3 2010 5:35PM
ContactUsID: 8857716

<APP>CUSTOM
<PREFIX></PREFIX>
<FIRST>Dottie</FIRST>
<LAST>Hubbard</LAST>
<MIDDLE></MIDDLE>
<SUFFIX></SUFFIX>
<ADDR1></ADDR1>
<ADDR2></ADDR2>
<CITY></CITY>
<STATE></STATE>
<ZIP>[REDACTED]</ZIP>
<COUNTRY></COUNTRY>
<PHONE></PHONE>
<EMAIL>[REDACTED]</EMAIL>
<ISSUE>W_POTUS</ISSUE>
<ISSUE>W_POL_ENVR</ISSUE>
<ISSUE>W_NRN</ISSUE>
<MSG>

Dear Sir:

Jumping to conclusions to assign blame to BP is reminiscent of blaming the Cambridge Police for "acting stupidly" without knowing the facts.

It is probably very satisfying to keep the Presidents FOOT on the neck of BP; however, it is the kind of disrespectful attitude that ends in an embarrassing 'BEER SUMMIT.'

I doubt a beer would solve the issue if sabotage were determined to be involved in the BP Gulf of Mexico oil disaster.

By the way, this rhetoric doesn't play well out here among the voting citizens.

Yours truly,
Dottie Hubbard

</MSG>
</APP>