Subject: Invitation for Mr. Podesta

Dear Mr. Podesta:

As a young philanthropist, I lead a platform at a family office in Detroit with interests in private equity and venture capital.

I write with deep respect for your leadership at The White House. Before President Obama took office, I suggested to you that Dr. Stanley Fischer should be considered for a role on the Federal Reserve, so it's great to see that possibility move forward since he's such a wise financial mind.

During an internship at The White House and meetings with leaders like Warren Buffett and Michael Bloomberg, I saw the need to advance the civic values you hold so dear - through technology.

This led me to an idea for a daily one minute video that would feature global leaders moving the needle in society. The conversation would be in-person or conveniently over Skype.

I was wondering if you may consider participating in the next chat? For the last five years, my goal has been to include you as this short chat would let leaders near and far hear from your involvement in so many major issues facing the nation at such an important time in our country.

Best,

Adam Finkel
