Jay, This Sunday at 10:00 pm on Showtime our series starts to run. I will be mentioning it in my Sunday column and was going to put in a line about the final show and the interview with the President. I cannot think of any reason not to highlight it and want to be the one do so, before others. The graf would read as follows. I just want to make sure that is consistent with the understanding we had going in. Many thanks, Tom

The first show features Harrison Ford looking at runaway deforestation in Indonesia, Don Cheadle following evangelicals in Texas wrestling with the tension between their faith and what is happening to their environment, and this columnist exploring how the prolonged drought in northern Syria contributed to the uprising there. The ninth show is an in-depth interview with President Obama on environmental and climate issues.
