For those who want to read, and cannot see embedded HTML, thanks to the "wonderful" policy in place on that, here's an article to read about it:

<http://www.networkworld.com/community/blog/it-consultant-accidentally-live-blogs-bin-lad>

IT consultant accidentally live blogs Bin Laden raid

Sohaib Athar appears to have been among first to chronicle U.S. mission

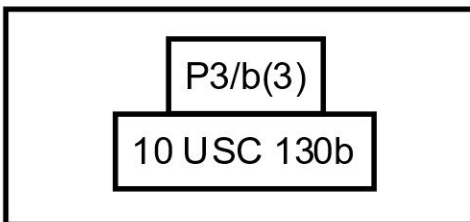

Among his entries [spelling errors from tweets]:

"Since taliban (probably) don't have helicopters, and since they're saying it was not "ours", so must be a complicated situation."

"Uh oh, now I'm the guy who liveblogged the Osama raid without knowing it."

"Interesting, I didn't think my name would trend on twitter before releasing a couple of rock albums and a few award-winning software...."

And this from one of Athar's followers: "I think the helicopter crash in Abbottabad, Pakistan and the President Obama breaking news address are connected."

for those of you on Twitter, you can follow parts of the raid by someone who was nearby and Tweeting what he heard.

did not know it was Usama Bin Laden raid until after the fact...
