Dear President Obama:

Thank you for authorizing the transfer of defense articles and services to the Federal Republic of Somalia. I visited Mogadishu recently and believe this is an important step to advance stability in Somalia and U.S. national security interests in the Horn of Africa.

The security gains accomplished by the African Union Mission in Somalia (AMISOM) over the last 18 months have been remarkable. When I met with Somali President Hassan Sheikh in Mogadishu in February he made clear that establishing security throughout Somalia was his number one priority, but that Somalia could not rely on AMISOM troops indefinitely. For this reason he wants to train and equip the Somali Armed Forces.

I am doing all I can to strengthen the U.S.-Somalia relationship. I hope to collaborate with Somali legislators through the House Democracy Partnership, help the new government access its frozen assets in the United States, and organize a conference on Somalia in September when President Hassan Sheikh returns to the United States. With the establishment of Somalia's new constitution, parliament and president, I believe now is our best chance in more than two decades to advance peace and stability in Somalia – but we must act quickly before this moment slips away.

Your decision to authorize the transfer of defense articles and services to Somalia will help Somalis meet their own security needs. Thank you for taking this step and for your administration's ongoing efforts to advance U.S.-Somali relations.

Sincerely,

WASHINGTON, DC 20510-2202

April 15, 2013

President Barack Obama
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

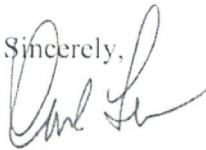

I am writing to urgently request that you nominate a permanent Director of the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA). The FHFA was established in 2008 and has been without a permanent Director since September of 2009.

As the conservator of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac (GSEs), the FHFA plays an important role in our country's housing finance, too important a role for this position to remain under the leadership of an acting Director. The nomination of a permanent Director is essential if the GSEs are going to provide assistance for our nation's underwater homeowners.

At the end of the fourth quarter of 2012, 27.5% of all mortgage holders nationwide were underwater. Michigan is particularly hard hit in this regard, with more than 36% of all homeowners underwater and nearly half of all Detroit homeowners owing more on their homes than they are worth. As the conservator of the GSEs, the FHFA has been unwilling to allow the GSEs to offer principal reduction as a means of assistance for financially troubled homeowners even though administration policy clearly supports this action.

Nomination of a permanent Director will allow this agency to finally assist troubled homeowners, improve our nation's housing market and boost economic recovery. It's long overdue. Thanks for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Carl Levin

United States Senate

WASHINGTON, DC 20510

February 5, 2013

The Honorable Barack Obama
President of the United States
The White House
11600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President,

I write today to call your attention to the ongoing vacancies at the Offices of the Inspectors General in six key federal agencies and urge you to move with purpose to nominate qualified, permanent Inspectors General at each.

As you know, IGs provide critical oversight that is a benefit to your Administration, to Congress and to the agencies themselves. According to a 2012 report by the Government Accountability Office (GAO), for instance, Inspectors General identified $43.3 billion in potential savings to the government during FY2009.

There are 32 IGs that currently require a presidential appointment. Six of these have remained without a permanent IG for an extended period of time. These are the Department of State, Department of Defense, Department of Interior, Department of Labor, Department of Homeland Security and the Agency for International Development. Shockingly, the Department of State has operated without a permanent IG for over 1,800 days, while the Department of Defense, with a budget of $645.7 billion in FY2012, has been without a permanent IG for over 400 days. Recognizing that there can be many legitimate reasons for delays in IG appointments, these key agencies have operated without permanent leadership for far too long. I am very concerned that the lack of stable leadership could be negatively impacting the ability of each IG office to provide effective oversight at these six agencies.

A permanent IG brings the expertise and qualifications necessary to ensure objective audits, investigations and independent oversight over our federal agencies. Unlike an acting IG, a permanent IG is thoroughly vetted by the Administration and by the Senate through the confirmation process. In addition, a permanent IG has time to put in place a long-term strategy for the IG office, to set goals and to ensure those goals are met. An acting IG serves in a temporary capacity and is therefore less likely to implement a strategic vision or move forward with more effective oversight measures.

During your January 27 interview for 60 Minutes on CBS News, you spoke to the role of the President and of political leaders, saying that "government is a process of constant improvement... and so part of what you're trying to do is to constantly improve systems and accountability and transparency to minimize those mistakes and ensure success." By appointing qualified, strongly independent and permanent IGs, you are taking the necessary steps to ensure greater accountability and transparency in the federal government. I hope you will move quickly to fill these positions and I look forward to closely considering each nomination in the U.S. Senate through the confirmation process.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Jeanne Shaheen", with a long, sweeping horizontal line extending to the right.

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515-4905

April 4, 2013

President Barack Obama
The White House
Washington, DC 20502

Dear Mr. President:

I am writing to respectfully request your consideration of the appointment of Susan N. Dreyfus of Wisconsin to the National Commission to Eliminate Child Abuse and Neglect Fatalities.

In light of her experience in both the public and non-profit policy sectors, Ms. Dreyfus is uniquely qualified to be appointed. Specifically her leadership role with the Alliance for Children and Families, as well as her work in public child welfare in both Wisconsin and the State of Washington, provide her with the qualifications to make a significant, positive impact on the Commission.

Ms. Dreyfus has a proven history of improving results for children and a clear vision that supports the mission of the Commission. For these reasons, I hope you will give Ms. Dreyfus every consideration as you make your appointments.

Thank you.

Respectfully,

F. JAMES SENSENBRENNER, JR.
Member of Congress
